Republican Club Plans Meeting

It was made known today that a group of Young Republicans in town are forming a club for the express purpose of becoming more politically and actively informed. Their interest is to retain the two party system in Massachusetts which in their belief leans itself to a better and more efficient government.

The other project is to learn American politics by organized political discussions and debates. Those interested are urged by Bayard D. Waring of Summer st. to attend an organizational meeting on February 5, 8 p.m. at the Robbins Junior Library Hall.

Home Wanted

that the young people of Arlington high school are willing to promote such a program and to go to the trouble of raising the necessary funds. You will be interested to know that it will be necessary to raise $1,075 to finance the foreign student's traveling expenses and the expenses of the Arlington high school student chosen to spend ten weeks in Europe during the summer months. Benefit is derived both by the foreign student and a member of the Arlington high school Junior class. Any persons who would be interested in this program, by taking in their home a student of a foreign country, may contact Mr. Charles H. Downs, Principal of Arlington high school. It is hoped that some will be interested and inquire as to the facts of this program and eventually offer their homes to a foreign student.

permission," the Chief continued. "Apparently, youngsters and their parents do not realize the existing danger of walking on the tracks," Ryan told this paper. He also noted that those trespassing on railroad property could be arrested.

Panel Member

John K. Burnham, of 98 Harlow street, an honor student at Boston College High School, has been selected as a member of the panel of "Youth Speaks Its Mind", scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 14. This is a TV program originating through Channel 2 on Thursdays from 5 to 6 p.m.

Route Two

the present terminus of Route 2, thus making the Star Market area taking unnecessary. Another member of the Arlington Board of Selectmen, present at the hearing Thomas Rawson requested that the two proposed connections to Lake street, one at Wilson avenue and the other through the St. Jerome's parking lot be combined so that only one connection would be necessary. Also included in the newly revised plan is a new outbound exit ramp on the easterly side of Pleasant street which will take only those houses adjacent to the present ramp. The new access road west of Pleasant street takes only one house at the corner of Pleasant and Venner and two garages just west of that point.

Land takings in the area according to reports are not scheduled to take place for at least six months while it will be at least a year before plans and specifications would be ready for advertising. Thus, those being dispossessed will have ample time to make their arrangements for leaving their present premises.

Present plans also call for cutting down the grade of the Belmont Hill section from 7 degrees to about 4.5 degrees.

The reconstruction project will cover a stretch of the "Pike from the Cambridge line to a point close to a point where Route 128 now passed over Route 2.

Meanwhile, a question now in the minds of many is what will happen to the proposed skating rink, under study by MDC consultants.

First Session Of Discussion Group On February 12

The first meeting of the Pre-School Discussion Group of the Peirce School will be held at the Dallin Branch Library, Park avenue, Tuesday, February 12, at 8 p.m.

Feature of the program will be a round table discussion on "Modern Discipline." Members of the panel include Miss Persis Gallion, kindergarten teacher, Boston Public School, chairman; Mrs. J. E. Graham, Director of Child Garden School, Woburn; Mrs. Leonard Floyd, kindergarten teacher, Boston Public School; and Mrs. R. A. Collins, teacher in Swampscott Public School.

Polio Drive A Success Here

Francis A. Coughlin, treasurer of the March of Dimes Polio Drive for the Town of Arlington told the press this week that this year's campaign was a smashing success which has exceeded all expectations.

Coughlin stated that when this year's polio drive was first initiated, it was feared that because of the discovery of the Salk Vaccine two years ago and the general success in meeting and overcoming the dread disease, that there would be a sharp decline in interest on the part of the public.

However, such fears were baseless according to Coughlin who states that the total receipts from the drive including the Mothers March are in the vicinity of $8,000 slightly under the all time record of the 1956 collection figure. It was also pointed out to the papers that this year's Mother's March was conducted on a Sunday afternoon rather than in the evening which was the case prior to 1957 and that hundreds of Arlington citizens were out for the day. A final drive will be held this week to allow those who were unable to contribute Sunday to do so now.

Brosnan Campaign Headquarters Open

At the Monday session, Eugene A. Leonard was appointed campaign manager.

Noted was the fact that three buses, not on regular schedule, if utilized from the Center to the Harvard terminal might help to alleviate conditions in the East Arlington section where they said "conditions are not good."

Hoopsters Beat Newton Almost Catch Cambridge

Arlington high school's basketball team won one and lost another in league competition last week. The locals picked up a victory over Newton January 4-43 and dropped their fifth game of the season 52-48 to Cambridge Latin two days later.

The games were exact opposites in scoring pattern as the locals jumped out into a commanding lead against Newton and had to hang on as the losers tallied 18 points in the final period to within a basket of a tie.

The Cambridge contest was just the opposite with Arlington trailing 26-13 at halftime but coming back strong in the second half including a 22 point final period rush.

JV's Beat Newton, Bow To Cambridge

With Lind scoring 23 points and Sefton 14, the Arlington JV's roared to a 63-52 victory over the Newton JV's January 23. However, on January 25, like the varsity the juniors tasted defeat at the hands of the Cambridge Latin five.

Newton jumped off to a 15-14 first period lead but Arlington scored 22 points to Newton's 16 in the second period and were never headed.

Sefton tallied 12 points to pace the Arlington attack in the Cambridge game, but couldn't hold a one-point edge in the final stanza scoring but two points in that period.

The teams were tied 11-11 at the half and Arlington led 19-18 at half time and 31-30 at the end of three periods.

To the Editor
Dear Sir:

In this day of so-called Juvenile Delinquency it is with amazement and perplexity, that I discover the apathy with which the people and particularly the parents ignore the appeal for managers and coaches for the Arlington Little League. Here is a concrete opportunity to help these boys learn the rules of good sportsmanship, team work, and gain the ability to win or lose with the same smile.

We have twelve teams in Arlington comprised of fifteen players each. This gives us a background of roughly one hundred eighty parents, to say nothing of friends and relatives who could assist at this wonderful program. Yet, so far, we have been able to recruit only about sixty-five per cent of the necessary assistance.

There must be some ex-players in this town of forty-eight thousand who could find time to help the Arlington Little League help Arlington boys be the best ball players in the country.

Please, anyone with the necessary ability to help, contact Russ Wedge at Heard road; Gerry Bartholomew at the Arlington National Bank; or myself.

Yours truly,
Dan Whitney
Publicity Director of
The Arlington
Little League

West Delegates At Conference

The Eastern Mid-Winter Conference of the Massachusetts Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc. was held on Saturday, January 26, at the Hotel Statler, Boston. The theme of the conference was "Uniting for Action".

Delegates from the Junior High West PTA were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Milley, Mr. A. Henry Ottosen, Mr. Glen Wright, Mrs. Lawrence Mantyla, Mrs. John Kilty.

The Junior High West was one of the units cited for participating towards the Webster Fiske Scholarships.

Dr. Mary A. O'Rourke, Senior Supervisor of Elementary Education in Massachusetts, was the principal speaker at the convocation and spoke on "An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward."

The Legislative committee of the Mass. PTA gave qualified approval to Governor Furolo's plans for enactment of a sales tax to raise new revenue. The committee said it would approve a sales tax provided that "State aid for education is doubled and the increase is financed from the tax."

Hold Study Group Sessions

On February 7 the first of a series of Study Group meetings will be held for members of the Arlington Women's Republican Club. It is planned that the informal morning talks and discussion sessions will be held monthly from February to May. Similar gatherings last year proved extremely popular and club members have been looking forward with pleasure to the resumption of the programs.

Mrs. Edward F. Walker, Study Group chairman, has announced that the subject of the February 7 meeting at Robbins Junior Library Hall will be "Know Your Cabinet." Members are invited to meet at 9:30 a.m. to enjoy a coffee half-hour before the talk and discussion period.

Completes Course

Pvt. Richard J. Murphy, Jr., whose parents live at 81 Fairmont street, Arlington, recently completed an electronic navigation equipment repair course at the Army's Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

Murphy attended Boston College and was employed by the Maryland Casualty Insurance Co., before entering the Army in May 1956.

AT RECEPTION — Among those attending the reception recently elected and re-elected legislators sponsored by the Arlington League of Women Voters last week were left to right: Selectman Hurd, Selectman Harris, League President Mrs. Edward Wilkins, Representative Gott, Selectman Rawson, Senator McDermott, and School Committee member Baker.

COFFEE TIME — Mrs. Thompson serves coffee to members at the reception for recently elected and re-elected legislators at the Junior Library Hall last week. The affair was sponsored by the Arlington League of Women Voters.

Red Feather Votes To Join A United Fund

The board of directors of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston at its monthly board meeting on January 24, voted to join a United Fund if it is formed and to amend its by-laws making such action possible.

Making the announcement was A. H. Parker, Jr., president of USC, who said: "United Community Services has been on record for more than a year in favor of uniting the many campaigns for health and welfare services."

"Several hundred corporate delegates of USC met 24 hours later to ratify and confirm the action by the board, making it legally possible for this organization to join in such a federation."

A committee has also been authorized by the USC board to act in its behalf at the Citizens' Committee meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on January 31 and at subsequent meetings to organize a United Fund.

Members of the committee are USC president Parker, Arthur G. Routh, senior vice-president of USC, and Harry M. Carey, USC executive director.

Depends On Policies
United Community Services will join a United Fund, Parker also stated, if a plan is proposed at the Chamber of Commerce meeting which is in keeping with policies and procedures of other United Funds around the country. USC was established in 1949 as the successor to the Greater Boston Community Fund which was

LEGAL NOTICE
Notice is herewith given in accordance with the provisions of Section 4, Paragraph 5 of the Zoning By-Law that there has been filed by James W. McGinn of Arlington, Massachusetts an appeal from the refusal of the Inspector of Buildings to issue a permit to add a porch to existing dwelling located at 66 Oak Hill Drive, Arlington, Massachusetts. Said addition would be closer to the side property line than is permitted by Section 13-B of the Zoning By-Law.

Hearing in regard to the said appeal will be held in the Committee Meeting Room, located in the basement of the Robbins Town Hall, Arlington, Massachusetts on Monday evening, February 11, 1957 at 8:00 O'clock P.M.

In the 22 campaigns held under the Red Feather banner, $135,061.41 has been raised. In recent years, contributors to the campaign each year have numbered more than 500,000 individuals and firms.

With the growing number of other campaigns and rising operating costs, it has been increasingly difficult to provide a high enough level of support for all Red Feather services.

In his statement, Mr. Parker voiced the hope that if the citizens of Greater Boston embark on a United Fund they will be doing so with the primary purpose of raising the level of support of those agencies which participate.

Givers To Decide
As the Chamber of Commerce report on a United Fund points out, "In the final analysis, it will be the givers who decide whether or not a United Fund in the Greater Boston Area is to succeed. Every indication is that the giving potential exists for a highly successful United Fund campaign effort. However, realization of this potential depends upon co-operation by contributors of all types in giving their proportionate share to the common goal."

"The United Community Services would continue its present functions except that of fund-raising which would no longer be necessary. Therefore, agencies currently financed by United Community Services would continue to receive their funds under established budgetary practice from that source, the United Fund making a lump-sum allotment to United Community Services."

"From time to time, other agencies offering purely local services might seek admission to the United Fund. In such instances, the established avenue for inclusion should be through United Community Services. All United Funds place major emphasis on solicitation at places of business and of employment. Virtually all of them feature the Chapter Plan as a basic technique."

Rawson Group Opens Headquarters

A headquarters located on Massachusetts avenue in the Capital Theatre building has been opened by the Thomas R. Rawson for Selectman Committee.

"My headquarters will be open every evening, and I'm personally inviting my friends and supporters to drop in at their convenience," Selectman Rawson stated. "I'm tremendously impressed at the response my candidacy has received. In every section of the Town, people have come forth and offered their support."

"I will run a vigorous campaign based on my experience and accomplishments as your Selectman," Rawson concluded.

Morning of February 6

The morning of February 6, 1957, is an important date to remember. For on that date barriers which at times have hampered complete news coverage over the years may for the first time begin to crumble.

At 10:30 a.m. on that morning a hearing will be held on a bill which in short, "provides for clarification of the definitions of open meeting and attempts to eliminate the barriers which now exist to access by the public and the press."

The bill under discussion will be presented as a substitute for general and unspecified bill which was filed as H 437 by four members of the General Court.

The substitute bill is principally proposed in the interests of the people and their access to what their government on all levels is doing.

Reviewing the contents of the bill:

Section 1—redefines public records on an omnibus basis.

Section 2—sets up provisions for open meetings on the state level of government for boards commissions and committees, with notable exceptions, and establishes the ground rules under which executive sessions may be held.

This section also establishes requirement for notice of meetings on the level of state government except under emergency conditions.

Section 3—sets up open meeting provisions for county government, while Section 4 provide similar provisions for city and town governments. Other sections provide for revisions in specific statutes for access to meetings and the rights of the public in meeting of city council, school committees, etc.

From our point of view, as members of the press we believe that open meetings are to be desired. Desired, because they will give us the opportunity of more complete coverage than is now possible under any circumstances — and desired because the public has the right to know what is going on in its government on a state, county and local level.

We believe passage of the open meeting bill in this session of the legislature, might also lead to the opening of another channel of news source, now limited in many cases. That being the publication prior to a meeting, when possible, of the meeting's agenda or list of articles to be discussed. How often do committee members attend sessions of one type or another without knowing before hand what is to be discussed?

It seems from here that nothing detrimental could come of open meetings, but rather that residents through the reports in their daily and weekly papers could become much better acquainted with the inner workings of their government and the committee and board members with feelings of the resident on any and all matters of importance to the community.

Passage of this bill to be aired at next month's hearing will, we believe, be of benefit to the press, the residents of the state, the county, the community and to those officials participating in all meetings of the future.

Babson Discusses FARM OUTLOOK

Exclusive NEWS Feature

Roger W. Babson

Recent developments in American agriculture lead me to believe that the longer-term outlook for our farmers is beginning to change for the better. While I see nothing really dramatic in the shifting picture, I do forecast that the years immediately ahead will be somewhat happier ones, for the "folks down on the farm."

The farmers', as well as the government's, present agricultural problem stems from years of mounting surpluses, particularly of cotton, wheat, and corn. War emergency measures were adopted by the government to stimulate farm production, and to safeguard farmers from price drops resulting from any excessive output. Finally these measures became such an integral part of the whole economic (and political) system that they were continued during the postwar years. By intensive cultivation, farmers have been producing bumper crops year after year, even on reduced acreage in some instances, with the surplus being siphoned into government loans.

As of last June 30, Uncle Sam had around $8,300,000,000 of the taxpayers' money tied up in loans on farm surpluses. Huge quantities of cotton and wheat have been piled up in recent years. Total carry-over stocks of the white staple at the beginning of the current crop year last August 1 amounted to a record high of 14,500,000 bales — more than enough to cover a year's domestic consumption and exports at the 1956 rate of disappearance. Most of this mountainous reserve was in government hands. A similar situation prevails in wheat. The carryover last July 1 amounted to around 1,030,000,000 bushels, — also mostly government held.

The various acreage controls applied to some important crops in recent years have been stymied by sharp increases in per-acre yields. Thus, surpluses have continued to mount. The Soil Bank program, however, which was first applied in a more or less limited way last year, may well prove to be a major means of checking the build-up of farm surpluses in government hands over the next several years. Under this program, the government compensates growers for acreage of basic crops taken out of production. The program will be in full swing this year and, if a large number of farmers sign up, as I expect, total 1957 planted acreage should be cut sharply.

More immediately effective, at least in the case of cotton, is the government's export assistance program, which permits exporters to buy cotton from the government board at cut-rate prices. Foreign buyers are finding these prices attractive. This is evidenced by the fact that U. S. cotton exports thus far this season are well above those of a year earlier, and may amount to between 6,500,000 and 7,000,000 bales for the full season. This would be nearly triple the 2,200,000 bales exported in 1955-1956, and the largest total in any season since 1933. If this prospect should be realized, the cotton carryover next August 1 may be reduced to the tune of some 2,400,000 bales — a major achievement.

Indications are that the government will continue to make every possible effort to reduce its holdings of cotton, corn, and wheat. As to whether this program, along with the Soil Bank, will provide an adequate long-term solution to the farm problem, I do not know. Many farmers, and even some government officials, regard these various programs as only temporary expedients, rather than as basic remedial measures. However, I believe that they are steps in the right direction. We are turning the corner in agricultural surpluses. The government, however, will always be wise to have some supplies in case of war or famine.

The problem, of course, cannot be solved overnight. Years may be required to bring the over-all supply-demand ratio into reasonable balance. The Soil Bank program, which expires in 1959, probably will need renewal. It may even become a more or less permanent part of the government's farm program, along with some form of federal price support.

U. S. farmers, by and large, are industrious and Godfearing. While they will continue to have their ups and downs, like the rest of us, during the years immediately ahead, they should average out very well. For this year, I forecast another moderate rise in net farm income.

WE THINK SO

Looking at the situation from here, it seems to us that the first open meeting of the Arlington School Citizens Committee held the night of January 22 at the new Thompson school was successful.

The talks by the four members of the panel were short and to the point and the handling of the discussion by the moderator, we thought, was excellent.

The question and answer period was long enough so that it was not too "dragged" out, but on the other hand was not too short.

Enough facts and figures were presented by the four members of the panel to enlighten the many present of the past, present, and future problems of the local school system. Yet, enough matter was left open to question so that the residents present were able to ask many pertinent questions.

As the Moderator, John Davis noted in his introductory remarks, the meeting would probably not be satisfactory to everyone present. However, we think that the session was satisfactory to the majority of those present, and we would like to take the opportunity to express our congratulations to the members of the School Citizens Committee planning the program and those who participated for an outstanding accomplishment.

TOWN HALL Press Conference

The Board of Selectmen has approved a request of the O'Connell Taxi company, Railroad Avenue, to add another taxi to its fleet.

Four residents will report to the Jury pool, Cambridge, March 4, for duty. Included are: Harold W. Scott, 44 Wachusetts Avenue; Paul J. Heiser, 32 Teel Street; Arthur E. O'Brien, 101 Thorndike Street; and Everett J. Henderson, 37 Grandview Road.

The majority of the members of the Arlington Board of Selectmen are opposed to a bill "providing that the meetings of public authorities be open to the general public." A hearing will be held on the bill, February 6, at 10:30 a.m. at the State House. Selectman Rawson was reported as being in favor.

Mr. Mirak of Mirak Chevrolet in the Center has reported that seven accidents have almost occurred since the MTA bus stop on Mass. Avenue was moved in front of his place of business.

Chief Albert Ryan of the Arlington Police Department doesn't feel that Richardson Avenue and Daniels Street should be made one way. Although a solution is still being sought for the traffic problem in the area, the Chief feels that too much inconvenience would result from making these streets one-way since cars would then have to go to Park Avenue to reach the St. James area at Acton, Harvard Street and Oakland Avenue.

Belmont officials have written to the MDC supporting the Arlington Board of Selectmen in the request for an interceptor sewer in the Route 2 area.

To The Editor

Dear Sir:

It is gratifying to note the thoughtful comments on my letter of January 17 regarding released time from public school for religious instruction. As a Sunday school teacher, I, too, would like to promote greater understanding of the ethical and religious insights which guide us. I believe that this can be accomplished within the period of the 150 and more non-school days each year when there can be no question of infringing on the tradition of separation of church and state. I believe, too, that with young children religious attitudes and ethical behavior are "caught" more than taught and that home and school environments can communicate ideals when parents and teachers are sensitive to opportunities. This is not to discount the value of formal religious instruction but to reinforce it and to help children live what they learn.

For the following reasons I am concerned about the imminence of a released time program here in Arlington:

It threatens the independent character of the public school. Since part of the compulsory school day is "released" by the state on condition that the participating student devote this time to sectarian instruction, the state accomplishes by indirection what it admittedly cannot undertake to do directly—it provides a governmental constraint in support of religion.

do directly—it provides a governmental constraint in support of religion.

It is a mechanism for divisiveness which is repeated at weekly intervals throughout the school year. Even when most carefully administered, the program's inherent abuses become evident: subtle sectarian pressures might be exerted by overzealous teachers; non-participating children are frequently embarrassed.

The normal school program is disrupted. Because classroom activities generally remain static during the released time period, children who do not participate suffer an unnecessary loss of school instruction. It is my understanding that some children simply do not reach their religious centers. Where such unexcused absences occur, the program contributes to truancy.

One mother here in Arlington discussed with her minister the possibility of not having her child participate in a released-time program. He pointed out this child would become conspicuous unless the child took part in the program.

Another mother felt that the free Wednesday afternoons were not feasible for religious instruction because it is too difficult to press the children to leave for church school during the week without the organization and supervision of the public school. It is simpler to promote the released time program when the youngsters have only the choice of leaving for religious instruction or remaining with a few others in school.

In the majority decision of the McCollum case the Supreme Court declared: "Beyond all questions any use of the tax-exempted public school system to aid religious groups to spread their faith falls squarely within the ban of the First Amendment — Children cannot be released or dismissed from school to attend classes in religion while other children must remain to pursue secular education."

Later in the Zorach case which reversed the above decision, the minority report of Justice Jackson offered this comment:

"If public education were taking so much of the pupil's time as to injure the public or the students' welfare by encroaching upon their religious opportunity, simply shortening everyone's school day would facilitate voluntary and optional attendance at Church classes. But that suggestion is rejected upon the ground that if they are made free, many students will not go to the Church. Hence, they must be deprived of freedom for this period, with Church attendance put to them as one of the two permissible ways of using it.

"The greater effectiveness of this system over voluntary attendance after school hours is due to the truant officer who, if the youngster fails to go to the school, dogs him back to the public schoolroom. Here schooling is more or less suspended during the "released time" so the nonreligious attendants will not forge ahead of the Churchgoing absentees. But it serves as a temporary jail for a pupil who will not go to church. It takes more subtlety of mind than I possess to deny that this is governmental constraint in support of religion. It is as unconstitutional, in my view, when exerted by indirection as when exercised forthrightly."

Should we not be thankful that the power of law which keeps religious instruction out of the public schools is the same power which protects and defends it in churches, homes and private schools? Should we not guard zealously the ideals which festered this law?

A brief word to Mr. Bertucci's pertinent discussion on religious illiteracy pointing up a need for further thinking about how to achieve more awareness of the meanings of religion in our society. Certainly to demand that the school act as if there were no such thing as religion is to deny reality.

Yet to teach objectively about religion in the public schools, even in music, history and sociology, requires a rare kind of genius.

But perhaps this should be regarded as a challenge for teacher-training institutions, and for the supervisory programs, not as an argument against essential curriculum content.

Sincerely yours,
Sylvia Shapiro

Tickets On Sale For Annual Boys Club Dinner

Tickets are now on sale at the Boys' Club office for the 13 Annual Father and Son Dinner which is to be held on Monday, February 18 at 6:15 p.m.

Parents of members are advised that because of the limited facilities only 300 tickets will be sold and we suggest that you have your son procure his tickets as soon as possible. Each year many of the members are disappointed as the limit had been reached and they were not able to attend.

The Boys' Club Associates are sponsoring this annual affair. Chairman Dick Harrison and his committee, Hy Garber, Ted Tarr, Bob Titilash, Jack Anglin, Henry Buleis and Club Director "Brud" Faulkner, are working diligently on the preparation for Dad's night at the Club.

A delicious ham dinner with all the fixin's will start the evening off. The program will include the presentation of the "Good Neighbor of the Year" Award. Certificates of merit will be passed out to the boys who have completed their physical fitness tests in the gymnasium.

The entertainers are being obtained and should prove enjoyable to all.

Locals Blanked By Belmont; Drop To Fourth In Standing

The Arlington high school hockey team went through its third consecutive GBI contest without chalking up a win at the Arena last Saturday afternoon, losing to Belmont 1-0 on Gardner's first period tally.

As a result of the game Belmont jumped into first place all alone followed by Newton and Melrose and then Arlington.

After winning their first four games, scoring 25 points in the bargain, the locals have now scored but two goals in their last three games, resulting in a tie and two losses. The opposition has not been scoring either. The Stoneham game ended in a 1-1 deadlock. Melrose nipped Arlington 2-1, in addition to Saturday's game.

Newton, which has come back strong in its last three contests scored six times in handing Medford a 6-1 setback. Newton, now has regained its early season scoring lead.

The win boosted Newton into a surprise second place tie with Melrose which seemed as if it might be on its way last week when it beat Arlington. However, last Saturday, the defending New England champions had to settle for a 4-4 tie with fifth place Cambridge Latin. In the process, Melrose blew a 2-0 lead.

The only goal scored in the Arlington-Belmont contest was netted by the high scoring Gardner at 1:59 of the opening period. The tally was unassisted, and from there on in the two teams battled to a scoreless tie.

Belmont has the best defensive record in the league, allowing but 9 goals in seven games, while Arlington, with rookie netminder Tom Apprille during a tremendous job is second, having allowed but 10 markers.

Arlington took 20 shots on goal in this one, outshooting the winners 11-1 in the final period. Seven of the last period were on goal.

Furcolo Lights Heart Torch Launching Heart Campaign

Governor Foster Furcolo will officially launch the 1957 Heart Fund today at 5:15 p.m. with the lighting of a Heart Torch to burn day and night throughout February on Boston Common.

The Massachusetts Heart Association's annual fund campaign will make possible a broadened program of lifesaving research, education and community services affecting every community in the state.

The month-long campaign will be climaxed on Heart Sunday, February 24, here and in other Massachusetts cities and towns, when nearly 100,000 volunteers visit their neighbors for contributions to expand the Association's programs.

More than 500 persons from every section of Massachusetts last night attended the Heart Fund's kickoff dinner in the Sheraton-Plaza, Boston, where TV star Ed Sullivan, Dr. Irvine H. Page, chairman of the American Heart Association's Scientific Council, and Dr. Paul Dudley White, consultant to President Eisenhower, were among the speakers.

Dr. Page immediate past president of the American Heart Association lauded ever-increasing public awareness of the necessity for more heart research and the dedicated efforts of volunteers who translate this attitude into financial support. "It proves," he said, "that the average American is willing to give of himself unselfishly. Our pride in them is very great."

"As long as the giving of intelligent dollars resulting from hard work continues," Dr. Page declared, "we need never fear encroachment by government, socialism or any other kind of ism."

He predicted, "with enough brain power at work, I have no hesitation in saying we will prevail over heart disease." However, he cautioned that solutions of the causes and cures of the three great killers — atherosclerosis, high blood pressure and rheumatic fever — are not necessarily "just around the corner."

Dr. Page urged that Americans understand heart disease, not fear it; that they keep their weight down, avoid fatigue, exercise regularly, observe moderation; and choose and obey a good doctor.

Ernest Henderson, state chairman, called for an all-out campaign reaching into every Massachusetts community.

"We are going to find the people sympathetic to our campaign," he said, "because they have seen so much distress due to heart disease, which accounts for more than half of all our deaths."

"Last year's record — nearly a million dollars raised in Massachusetts — showed conclusively that our people are behind the Massachusetts Heart Association's efforts to prolong and make more enjoyable their lives."

"We did well last year — we must do even better this year," he said.

Representative McEvoy, in addressing the Committee stated: "In order to protect the pedestrians in this Commonwealth, action should be taken by the Legislature to adopt 'Anti Jay Walking' legislation. Under the provisions of my bill, where crosswalks are available and they are within 300 feet, a pedestrian would be required to use the crosswalk.
